1. BACKGROUND

Section 26 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 (the Act) places a duty on certain bodies (“specified authorities” listed in schedule 6 to the Act), in the exercise of their functions, to have “due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism”. It is the responsibility of all educational establishments to have regard to these duties from 1 July 2015.

2. INTRODUCTION AND CONTEXT

2.1 Northern Regeneration CIC has a legal responsibility to fulfil the Prevent Duty as an education establishment. The Prevent Duty is part of a Government initiative to develop a robust counter terrorism programme – CONTEST. The UK faces a range of terrorist threats. All the terrorist groups who pose a threat to us seek to radicalise and recruit people to their cause. The Prevent strategy seeks to:

- Respond to the ideological challenge of terrorism and aspects of extremism, and the threat we face from those who promote these views.
- Provide practical help to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism and ensure they are given appropriate advice and support.
- Work with a wide range of sectors where there are risks of radicalisation which needs to be addressed, including education, criminal justice, faith, charities, the internet and health.

2.2 CONTEST has four key principles:

- Prevent: to stop people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism
- Pursue: to stop terrorist attacks
- Protect: to strengthen our protection against a terrorist attack
- Prepare: to mitigate the impact of a terrorist attack.

2.3 A system of threat level has been created which represents the likelihood of an attack in the near future. There are 5 levels of threat:

- low - an attack is highly unlikely
- moderate - an attack is possible but not likely

- substantial - an attack is likely
- severe - an attack is highly likely
- critical - an attack is highly likely in the near future

The level is set by the Joint Terrorism Analysis Centre and the Security Service (MI5).

Threat levels do not have an expiry date. They can change at any time as different information becomes available to security agents.

2.4 The current threat level from terrorism in the UK can be found on the Government ‘Terrorism and National Emergencies’ page

2.5 Education providers have a part to play in fostering shared values and promoting cohesion. They should focus on the risks of violent extremism, which represents the greatest threat at national level, while recognising that other forms of violence and extremism can and do manifest themselves within Northern Regeneration’s and other training settings. This strategy has five key objectives:

- To promote and reinforce shared values; to create space for free and open debate; and to listen and support the learner/apprentice voice
- To break down segregation among different learner/apprentice communities including by supporting inter-faith and inter-cultural dialogue and understanding, and to engage all learners/apprentices in playing a full and active role in wider engagement in society.
- To ensure learner/apprentice safety and that Northern Regeneration is free from bullying, harassment and discrimination.
- To provide support for learner/apprentices who may be at risk and appropriate sources of advice and guidance.
- To ensure that learners/apprentices and staff are aware of their roles and responsibilities in preventing violent extremism.

3. Employees

3.1 As an employee, you have a key role in the Prevent strategy. Prevent focuses on working with vulnerable individuals who may be at risk of being exploited by radicalisers and subsequently drawn into terrorist-related activity. Prevent does not require you to do anything in addition to your normal duties. What is important is that if you are concerned that a vulnerable individual is being exploited in this way, you can raise these concerns.

3.2 Some of the following factors are already known to contribute to the vulnerability of individuals and could put them at risk of exploitation by radicalisers as follows:

- Identity crisis
Adolescents/vulnerable adults who are exploring issues of identity can feel both distant from their parents/family and cultural and religious heritage, and uncomfortable with their place in society around them. Radicalisers can exploit this by providing a sense of purpose or feelings of belonging. Where this occurs, it can often manifest itself in a change in a people’s behaviour, their circle of friends, and the way in which they interact with others and spend their time.

- Personal crisis
This may, for example, include significant tensions within the family that produce a sense of isolation of the vulnerable individual from the traditional certainties of family life.
- Personal circumstances
The experience of migration, local tensions or events affecting families in countries of origin may contribute to alienation from UK values and a decision to cause harm to symbols of the community or state.
- Unemployment or under-employment
Individuals may perceive their aspirations for career and lifestyle to be undermined by limited achievements or employment prospects. This can translate to a generalised rejection of civic life and adoption of violence as a symbolic act.
- Criminality
In some cases a vulnerable individual may have been involved in a group that engages in criminal activity or, on occasion, a group that has links to organised crime and be further drawn to engagement in terrorist-related activity.

Any change in an individual's behaviour should not be viewed in isolation and you will need to consider how reliable or significant these changes are. Signs might include:

- parental/family reports of unusual changes in behaviour, friendships or actions and requests for assistance
- patients/staff accessing extremist material online
- use of extremist or hate terms to exclude others or incite violence
- writing or artwork that promotes violent extremist messages or images
